

Legacy Operations Solutions

Choose a partner that can bring operational and cost efficiencies to your existing private fund operations

You made the decision to offer alternatives investment funds for good reason -they can bring powerful impact to your clients. But investing in alternatives is highly complex and requires significant operational support. That's why many wealth advisors avoid the asset class completely. While in the minority for taking that step, the value from alternatives grows exponentially. So does the workload. That's why many private wealth advisors look to outsource alternative fund management.

QUICK FACT
95%
consider investing in alternatives challenging.

54½ hours spent per client annually to execute operational tasks of one private internal fund.

Are your resources stretched too thin?

When you manage your own funds, it's no secret that it is extremely challenging to keep all the flames lit. Handling all aspects of your business internally can over-extend your staff, not allowing your business to reach its full potential.

Do you have capacity to meet demand?

Alternative investments are on the rise. As your clients' appetite for new or multiple alternative options increases, you need to scale your business to keep up. The additional operational heavy lifting that comes with alternative investments, like increased costs and the need for staff and vendors, can leave you strapped. An outsourced general partner is a turnkey, cost-effective way to stay on top of the demand.

Cease the compounding workload.

Tasks associated with managing alternatives internally can quickly multiply. That burden rings true for many of our RIA partners with private investments. That's why they work with PPB as a full-service 3rd-party partner to execute their operational services.

Infrastructure to support your business

1 Streamline operations

Maintaining manager documents from various sources can be complex. With seamless transition, off-load your due diligence records, auditor requests, capital calls, tax documents, and reporting to a team that handles that for you. Added perk, consolidated, simplified reporting per fund, or combined, for your business at your fingertip.

White-glove service

Our in-house operations team manages 45+ tasks for each fund. This brings unmatched cost-effective delivery in our ability to scale resources and third-party partners for often lower, pre-negotiated fees.

Increase profitability

Outsourcing opens doors for new ways to potentially increase revenue. PPB maintains excellent relationships with the industry's top integration partners and service providers in our ability to scale resources and third-party partners for often lower, pre-negotiated fees.
